Looking around platform nine and three quarters I didn't see harry or Ron until I spotted a mass of red-heads near the train. Walking towards them I could hear Mrs. Weasley talking to Fred and George. "Fred, George if I get another owl about your pranks, we are bringing you straight home is that understood." Mrs. Weasley asked Fred and George. "Yes mum, ay Fred are you thinking what I'm thinking" George asked his twin. "Yep, just don't caught, and they won't send any letters' he replied laughing. "Oh what am I going to do with you two?" Their mother muttered. Then turned to a black haired boy and hugged him bye. "Take care Harry, and remember to be careful please." she asked him. "Yes Mrs. Weasley, I will" he replied. And seeing me ran over and hugged me along with Ron. "Ha-ha it's good to see you, Mione" he replied pulling away, causing me to wince. "Ha-ha you too harry" I replied. "Mione can you help me with my homework please, and before you say anything I'm almost finished, I just got one or two question left on McGonagall's homework." Ron pleaded, "Oh alright I suppose I could, come on and let's find a compartment before they're all filled." I replied. We made it onto the train and started looking for a compartment when we were interrupted by Malfoy, Crab and Goyle. "Look its Potter, Weasley and their favorite mudblood, Crab, Goyle want to teach them a little lesson about respecting there superior's" he said pulling out his wand. Harry and Ron pushed me behind them, and pulled out their wands, "Don't even think about it Malfoy." Harry growled, glaring at him. "Oh I'm so scared" he mocked. "You should be." Ron sneered, "Look Crab, Goyle the blood-traitor's defending the mudblood ironic don't you think considering what their ..." he replied smirking. "Don't even finish that sentence Malfoy" George said cutting him off, then come up and stood beside Ron, with his wand out. "Like I listen to you " he snarled, "Maybe not to him but, if you don't then you have five more people to make you" Fred stated then stood on the other side of Harry, with his wand out, followed by Ginny, Neville and Lee Jordan, who come up and formed a larger circle around me. With their wands out, "And your on our turf" Ginny snarled, glaring, "So unless you want to get hexed, leave" Lee finished. Then a familiar voice cut everyone off "Mr. Malfoy, that is enough, twenty points from Slytherin for threatening a fellow student, and put your wands away you seven before you do something that you regret". We all turned around to see Professor Lupin glaring at Malfoy, from an empty compartment doorway. "Sorry... Professor" Malfoy mumbled then went back to the Slytherin compartment, Harry however ran over and gave him a hug, followed by Ron, me and Ginny. "Your back" Harry asked when he pulled back, Professor Lupin smiled "Yes I'm back, apparently parents heard what a great teacher I was from their children and said they would have a few things to say if Professor Dumbledore didn't re-instate me". We all smiled and high fived each other, when he finished, George, Fred and Lee gave him a hand shake, and with a quick goodbye left to go back to their compartment. "Have you heard from padfoot yet" Harry asked, Lupin looked around the corridor then beckoned us to come in. We sat down, closing the compartment door "Yes I have, but before I say anything else I want you to promise me that all of you will keep this to yourselves for the time being" he said looking around. We nodded our heads telling him we would, letting him continue "good now yes Harry I have, he is staying in a safe location for now, but professor Dumbledore thinks he's found out where Peter is hiding and therefore Voldemort too, which means that for the time being you have to still stay with the Dursley's. However when Dumbledore does find him you should be able to live with him" Harry nodded and smiled. After professor Lupin dozed off, we talked about what Malfoy could have in store for us, but soon the boys and Ginny started to talk about quidditch so, I pulled my book out and read. Then later I was interrupted by the lights going out. "What's going on, we can't be there yet" I asked looking at my watch, with a overwhelming sense of déjà vu. Ron wiped the window to see what was going on "there's something coming on the train" he said. Harry got up and looked out into the hallway, then come back and sat down "Everyone's looking out to see what it was, but I can't see anything" he said. When something opened our compartment door, it had a black robe on with skeleton like hands. I saw professor Lupin open his eyes watching closely, when it pulled back its hood and stepped closer to Harry, it took a deep breath and sucked out something while he started to convulse. It took me milliseconds but, I realized it was another dementor, probably searching for Bellatrix or one of the other prisoner's that escaped, when it turned to me and everything went black****

I was hiding behind the couch, when the door opened and a high voice called out my name. I knew I was supposed to stay here like dad said but, I peeked out curious. And saw a tall man with snake like pupils staring around the room, looking for me. I crawled back behind the couch quietly when cold hands grabbed me and started to push open the door, when a young black haired man stepped in. "let her go now " he sneered, "ah Severus, surely you realize, I would have come for her" he said. I looked up panicked at the man and realized who it was, as I yelled "Daddy". And went to go to him, as Voldemort apperated us far away from my dad, my family, and my life.

"Hermione, Hermione wake up" harry said just as my eyes flickered open. Professor Lupin was standing over me watching me carefully when I realized what happened. "Ugh, did I really faint" I asked, sitting up. "Yeah you and harry both." Ron said "Professor, why are they searching the train again" harry turned around and asked "It was searching the train for any of the prisoners that escaped last week." he said, looking grim. He pulled out a bar of chocolate, broke it up and turned to me and harry. "Here eat this, it will help" he said handing us a piece "Well, if you'll excuse me I need to have a little word with the driver." He said, and then left, leaving me, harry, and Ron to talk. I wasn't listening though I couldn't get my dad's face out of my head and most of all why did riddle take me, why not kill me, surely he would have done that .Then the train slowed to a stop, snapping me out of my thoughts .The boy's and I made our way to the carriages, ready for another great school year.
